Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1 and 3-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure that is not enabling. The term “untreated”, which is critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976). The term “untreated” may be reasonably defined by the skilled artisan any one of numerous ways, each of which is possibly very different in scope. One might even argue that merely leaving the crumb rubber in an oxidizing environment such as air might constitute treating for the purposes of the invention. In that sense, Applicant’s modification of the claim not only represents new matter but also raises issues that the claim is indefinite.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 3-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cart, U.S. patent # 6,806,232. The Examiner is not at all convinced that Applicant’s amendment patentably distinguishes the claimed invention over the prior art. For instance, Cart contemplates a treating method that entails either thermal or mechanical treatment. It is not obvious to the Examiner how, in those instances where the treatment had been mechanical, or possibly thermal, in nature, the crumb rubber could be perceived as patentably distinguishable from the "untreated" rubber presently claimed by Applicant. Had the reference, on the other hand, stipulated that it was necessary to chemically treat the crumb rubber in a specific manner, the Examiner would immediately be able to envisage a distinction. However, the prior art does not require that the rubber be chemically modified.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

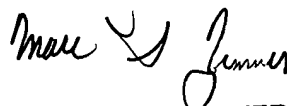

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
